

Dedications

The following historical account is sincerely dedicated to the men of Company K, both living and dead who by their tenacious, almost fanatical devotion to each other, enabled them to hold the high ground and press on to the assigned objectives and eventual victory.

Claude W. Thom