was carried on four two and one-half ton trucks and trailers. This reserve was used for refueling vehicles drawing supplies, emergency needs, and for units of the Division upon change of location until such time when Class III dumps could be set up.

5. Another function of the organization during this period was to keep the field ranges, gasoline lanterns and outfits cooking, one and two burner, and typewriters repaired. Due to the lack of parts this organization carried eight to ten field ranges on hand. The units brought their ranges needing repair in and received direct exchange of another one. This organization then took the ones needing repair back to a field range repair unit near the Army Class II dump and had them repaired. All minor repairs up to and including 2nd Echelon repair on These items were done by men of this organization in order to speed up delivery back to the using units. When 3rd Echelon repairs were required the items were taken to a QM Repair Unit located near the Army Class II Dump.
