I — SILVER STAR. Pursuant to authority contained in AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, and Memorandum 34, Headquarters Ninth United States Army, 8 September 1944, as amended, a Silver Star is awarded, posthumously, to the following officer:

Second Lieutenant Franklin C Gough Jr, 0531102, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action near * * * , France on 13 September 1944. When his men clung to the ground for protection against heavy enemy artillery and mortar fire, Lieutenant Gough, a platoon leader, moving among them, encouraged them to recommence an attack across an open field. After he had led the platoon to within one hundred yards of his objective, an enemy machine gun opened fire. Lieutenant Gough was killed by machine gun fire as he led a direct assault on the German position, but his men, spurred on by his inspiring example, continued the attack and eliminated the enemy strongpoint. His intrepid leadership is in accord with the best traditions of the Army. Entered military service from Louisiana.

II — SILVER STAR. Pursuant to authority contained in AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, and Memorandum 34, Headquarters Ninth United States Army, 8 September 1944, as amended, a Silver Star is awarded to the following officer and enlisted man of this command:

Second Lieutenant Leo C Lyon, 02012102 (then technical sergeant), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in * * * , Germany on 8 March 1945. When attacking rifle troops were threatened with encirclement on their exposed left flank, Lieutenant Lyon, acting platoon leader, grabbed a light machine gun, dashed forward some fifty yards under cover of a smoke screen and, in the face of withering artillery and small arms fire, delivered such effective fire upon the enemy troops that fifteen Germans surrendered after failing in a desperate attempt to knock out the machine gun with a direct firing heavy weapon. Lieutenant Lyon maintained his forward position until all threat of encirclement was eliminated. His gallant actions under fire exemplify the high traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Kansas.

Technical Sergeant Robert C Brower, 20108996, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action near * * * , Germany on 6 March 1945. When the radio operator was wounded, Sergeant Brower, acting first sergeant, installed and manned the radio on the top floor of a house during an intense enemy artillery barrage, until a direct hit on the building destroyed the radio and wounded Sergeant Brower. Although suffering from scalp wounds, concussion and shock, he made his way to the battalion commander and informed him of the situation, before receiving treatment for his wounds. Sergeant Brower's zealous devotion to duty, and complete disregard for personal safety, reflect credit upon himself, his unit and the military service. Entered military service from Massachusetts.

III — BRONZE STAR MEDAL. Pursuant to authority contained in AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, and Memorandum 34, Headquarters Ninth United States Army, 8 September 1944, as amended, a Bronze Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following officer and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Franklin C Gough Jr, 0531102, Infantry, United States Army, for heroic service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States near * * * , France on 11 August 1944. After his unit had been cut off during an attack and surrounded for six hours, suffering several casualties, Lieutenant Gough volunteered to lead a three man patrol through enemy lines to re-establish contact with the battalion command post and secure medical aid for the wounded. Using consummate skill and cunning, he successfully led his men in fighting their way through the enemy lines in the face of intense machine gun and small arms fire and secured relief for the trapped force. His valiant leadership reflects credit upon his character as an officer. Entered military service from Louisiana.

Staff Sergeant George J Petricka, 37306872, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, for heroic service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States in * * * , Germany on 7 March 1945. When the area occupied by his unit was subjected to intensive enemy artillery and mortar fire, endangering explosive-laden vehicles and equipment, Sergeant Petricka, a supply sergeant, volunteered to lead a detail of drivers to move the vehicles to an assembly area on the outskirts of * * * . As he made his way forward, he was killed by enemy shellfire. Sergeant Petricka's courageous devotion to duty is in accord with military tradition. Entered military service from Minnesota.

First Lieutenant Warren D Hodges, 0530011, Infantry, United States Army, for heroic service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States near * * * , Germany on 10 March 1945. As Lieutenant Hodges, commanding Company I, * * * Infantry, was riding on a tank during the advance of his unit toward * * * , his vehicle was halted by a hostile tank trap. The area was subjected to heavy concentrations of observed artillery and mortar fire, causing the riflemen to dismount and become disorganized. When heavy enemy shellfire endangered the explosive-laden vehicles and equipment of his unit, Sergeant Binkowski, a motor sergeant, voluntarily began moving vehicles from the danger area. While driving one vehicle to safety, it stalled because of mechanical failure. Disregarding enemy shells landing all about him, Sergeant Binkowski calmly repaired the vehicle, and drove it to safety. His courageous devotion to duty was directly responsible for saving much valuable equipment from destruction. Entered military service from New York.

Technician Fourth Grade Francis A Dellen, 33625220, Medical Department, United States Army, for heroic service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States near * * * , Germany on 6 March 1945. The commander was wounded as he prepared to re-enter the tank destroyer, whereupon Corporal Dawson ceased firing, exposed himself to enemy fire, and assisted the wounded commander into the tank destroyer.
