I -- SILVER STAR (Posthumous Awards). Pursuant to authority contained in AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, and Circular 6, Headquarters Third United States Army, 26 April 1944, a Silver Star is awarded, posthumously, to the following officers:

Lieutenant Colonel John N Wilson, 019803, Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in the vicinity of * * *, France, 11 July 1944. When the infantry regiment which his artillery battalion was supporting directly moved to its initial contact with the enemy, without regard for his own safety, Colonel Wilson moved aggressively forward with the infantry commander's party as an example to his artillery liaison officer and forward observers and other troops on their initial day of combat, and in an effort to locate appropriate artillery targets, thereby assisting the advance of the infantry. His actions reflect credit upon his character as an officer and are in accord with the highest traditions of the military service. Entered United States Military Academy from New York.

Captain John R Kerr, 01170450, Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in the vicinity of * * *, France, 11 July 1944. As an artillery liaison officer with an infantry battalion on its initial day of combat, with utter disregard for his own safety and as an example to his artillery forward observers, Captain Kerr moved aggressively forward with the point of the advance guard to locate and bring artillery fire on appropriate targets, thereby assisting the infantry to advance against a stubbornly defending enemy. His actions reflect credit upon his character as an officer and are in accord with the highest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Michigan.

II -- SILVER STAR. Pursuant to authority contained in AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, and Circular 6, Headquarters Third United States Army, 26 April 1944, a Silver Star is awarded to the following officers of this command:

Captain Clyde R Mills, 0415788, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in the * * * River sector, France, on 2 August 1944. Receiving information of a strong enemy concentration of armored vehicles, Captain Mills, company commander of Company G, * * * Infantry, organized and personally led a force of infantrymen in a surprise attack against this strong point, destroying the enemy. He returned to his company and led successful attacks against other enemy strong points in the vicinity. The dynamic and skillful leadership of Captain Mills, his tenacity of purpose and utter disregard for personal safety inspired the troops under his command and contributed largely to the overwhelming defeat suffered by the enemy in the * * * River sector. Entered military service from Kansas.

Captain Harry F Parker, 0395926, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in the * * * River sector, France, on 2 August 1944. During an attack north of * * *, the retreating enemy blew up an ammunition dump, scattering shells over a wide area and cutting communications between the battalion observation post and the radio car of supporting artillery. When it became apparent that friendly artillery was falling too close to our troops, who were advancing faster than had been anticipated, Captain Parker cleared a path through the burning ammunition, reached the radio car, and caused the artillery fire to be lifted, then guided the radio car through the flaming area to the battalion observation post by walking in front and personally removing shells from the road. The courageous actions of Captain Parker, his initiative and utter disregard for personal safety, undoubtedly saved the lives of many of his comrades-in-arms, and immeasurably assisted in the successful continuation of the attack. Entered military service from Kansas.

Second Lieutenant Leroy E. Lawson, 01321796, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in the * * * River sector, France, on 2 August 1944. During an attack north of * * *, the retreating enemy blew up an ammunition dump, scattering shells over a wide area and cutting communications between the battalion observation post and the radio car of supporting artillery. When it became apparent that friendly artillery was falling too close to our troops, who were advancing faster than had been anticipated, Lieutenant Lawson cleared a path through the burning ammunition, reached the radio car, and caused the artillery fire to be lifted, then guided the radio car through the flaming area to the battalion observation post by walking in front and personally removing shells from the road. The courageous actions of Lieutenant Lawson, his initiative and utter disregard for personal safety, undoubtedly saved the lives of many of his comrades-in-arms, and immeasurably assisted in the successful continuation of the attack. Entered military service from Connecticut.

Second Lieutenant James E. McCamey Jr, 01321796, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in the * * * River sector, France, on 1 August 1944. Lieutenant McCamey, platoon leader, Company B, * * * Infantry, directed the fire of accompanying tanks by means of a control telephone. As a result of enemy action, the tank from which he was directing fire was knocked out. Despite the intensity of enemy fire, Lieutenant McCamey ran alongside the commander's tank, shouting orders which were in turn radioed to the other tanks. When the attack slowed down in the face of superior enemy forces, Lieutenant McCamey reorganized the company, then returned to the rear and led the supporting infantry company into position for a continuation of the attack. Directing both companies and the detachment of tanks, he succeeded in reaching and holding the battalion objective. The outstanding leadership of Lieutenant McCamey, his courage, resourcefulness, and utter disregard for personal safety, were immeasurably responsible for the success of the mission, and are in accord with the high traditions of the military service. Entered military service from California.

III -- BRONZE STAR MEDAL (Posthumous Award). Pursuant to authority contained in AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, and Circular 6, Headquarters Third United States Army, 26 April 1944, a Bronze Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted man:

Sergeant William T. Janus, 37134730, Infantry, United States Army, for heroic service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States, near * * *, France, on 2 August 1944. Sergeant Janus, a wire chief, was assigned the mission of establishing wire communications to the battalion observation post to enable artillery fire to be directed against the enemy. Sergeant Janus and his crew reached the observation post in the face of heavy enemy fire, but the wire head was destroyed by an enemy shell. Sergeant Janus returned to the rear, brought up a second wire and established communications which greatly facilitated the battalion's advance to its objective. During the operation, Sergeant Janus was fatally wounded by shell fragments. His devotion to duty and disregard for personal safety reflect credit upon his character as a soldier. Entered military service from Kansas.
